THIS IS NOT A PATENT APPLICATION

PTO-1652 (8/99)

It is understood that a Disclosure Document is not a patent application, nor will its receipt date in any way become the effective filing date of a patent application. The Disclosure Document may be relied upon only as evidence of conception of an invention and a patent protection is desired.

For two years after the date it was received by the Patent and Trademark Office (PTO) and will be related patent application filed within the two-year period. The Disclosure Document may be referred to in a patent application or by a separate letter filed in a pending application. Unless it is desired to have the two-year period. It is not required that it be referred to in the patent application.

It is considered to be a "grace period" during which the inventor can wait to file his/her patent application. It is recognized that in establishing priority of invention an affidavit or testimony referring to a Disclosure Document in completing the invention or in filing the patent application since the filing of the Disclosure Document.

Document.

If you are not familiar with what is considered to be "diligence in completing the invention" or "reduction to practice" under the patent law or if you have other questions about patent matters, you are advised to consult with an attorney or agent registered to practice before the PTO. The publication, Attorneys and Agents Registered to Practice Before the United States Patent and Trademark Office, is available from the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, DC 20402. Patent attorneys and agents are also listed in the telephone directory of most major cities. Also, many large cities have associations of patent attorneys which may be consulted.

You are also reminded that any public use or sale in the United States or publication of your invention anywhere in the world more than one year prior to the filing of a patent application on that invention will prohibit the granting of a patent on it.

Disclosures of inventions which have been understood and witnessed by persons and/or notarized are other examples of evidence which may also be used to establish priority.

There is a nationwide network of Patent and Trademark Depository Libraries (PTOL's) which have collections of patents and patent-related reference materials available to the public. Including automated access to PTO databases. Publications such as General Information Concerning Patents are available at the PTOL's as well as the PTO's Web site at www.uspto.gov. To find out the location of the PTOL closest to you, please consult the complete listing of all PTOL's that appears on the PTO's Web site or in every issue of the Official Gazette, or call the PTO's General Information Services at 800-PTO-9199 (800-786-9199) or 703-308-HELP (703-308-4357). To ensure assistance from a PTOL staff member, you may wish to contact a PTOL prior to visiting to learn about its collections, services, and hours.
